In this feature, we shine a light on local charities and support groups making a difference in our community. From food banks and mental health services to dementia support and youth initiatives, we highlight the incredible work happening right on our doorstep.

This month, we focus on St. Vincent de Paul Society (SVP) in Latchford, a charity providing practical assistance, friendship, and emotional support to those in need. Operating from St. Henry Newman Church, SVP helps individuals and families facing hardship, offering food, general assistance, and a listening ear. Know a local group doing great work? Let us know—we'd love to feature them!

To provide support, the South Warrington Primary Care team is collaborating with 'Warrington Speak Up', who run a Dementia Project called 'Still Me'. They have also made links with support organisations who attend the Living Well Hub every Tuesday, with a focus on ageing well and Dementia.
